The Shawnee Daily News has changed hands. It has been purchased by Otis Weaver, of the Ada News. Mr. Weaver is a good newspaper man and we predict the News will keep abreast of the times. The politics of the paper will be changed to democratic, which leaves Shawnee without a republican paper. Charles F. Barrett, assemblyman from Pottowatamia, will be editor of the News.

The Carnegie Democrat announces that it will suspend publication after this week. It was a good paper one of the best in the county and it is regretted that a lack of sufficient support forced it to suspend.

County Attorney Mousell left Saturday for New York to attend the National Good Roads convention.

The day is past when bootleggers, beer smugglers and their ilk can overawe and run this country has passed. The sooner they are gone the better.

Mrs. Brown of the Bryan hotel says the Democrat misrepresented her, having stated that she was charged with selling whiskey when she was only charged with transporting beer. The Democrat must confess that it is not familiar with all the fine distinctions of difference in this illicit spiritous liquor handling, and may have unwittingly done the lady a great injustice.

Mrs. W. L. Myers returned from Oklahoma City Saturday.

The Democratic Victory Grows.

Albuquerque, N.M., Nov. 11.—The returns from the New Mexico state election of Thursday are still incomplete. The Republican state committee this afternoon concedes the election of McDonald, Democrat, for governor by a majority of 2,000. Returns thus far received indicate the election of the entire Democratic state ticket and two Democratic congressmen.

The complexion of the legislature, which will elect two United States senators, remains in doubt, but it is now believed that the Republicans will have a majority of ten on joint ballot.

The state supreme court will consist of one "progressive" Republican and two Democrats. Of the eight district judges four are Democrats, three "regular" and one "progressive" Republican.

USEFUL HOME-MADE UTENSIL

Knife Box Will Be Found of Value at All Times, and is Not Hard to Construct.

Money-saving suggestions should they be of such a nature that they only save small sums, are always well welcomed. In the case of a knife box, the suggestion is that of a very simple construction that may be quite easily made at home. It is a very small box, about the size of a matchbox, and is made of wood. It is divided into two compartments, one for the knives and the other for the handles. The knives are held in place by a small piece of wood, which is fastened to the side of the box. The handles are held in place by a small piece of wood, which is fastened to the bottom of the box. The box is made of wood, and is painted or stained.

comparatively easy to make. The center of the box is 1 1/2 inches wide, and is divided into two compartments, one for the knives and the other for the handles. The knives are held in place by a small piece of wood, which is fastened to the side of the box. The handles are held in place by a small piece of wood, which is fastened to the bottom of the box. The box is made of wood, and is painted or stained.

The knives are held in place by a small piece of wood, which is fastened to the side of the box. The handles are held in place by a small piece of wood, which is fastened to the bottom of the box. The box is made of wood, and is painted or stained.

The edges of the box are finished with ornamental braid and brass-headed nails, and the exterior is smoothly covered with some suitable material, or it can be painted or stained.

HAT BOX THING OF BEAUTY

Receptacle for Headgear May Be Made an Ornament for the Girl's Room.

Covered hat boxes are already much in demand for prizes, while for gifts or for sale at a fair they are still sufficiently original to be eagerly sought.

For a rose colored boudoir a Barry pink moire bordered about the box itself as well as the lid with a good sized French print placed both on the top of the box and on one of all panels is really beautiful. A well made hat box with wooden frame may be procured to cover, for an ordinary cardboard box is not sufficiently strong to be worth the covering. All the most expensive hats are now generally set home in these boxes having wooden framework, and if a girl is not so fortunate as to possess such a box herself she surely can buy, borrow, or steal one from some friend or relative.

The prints, of course, must be pasted to the material before the box is to be covered. The braid can be either pasted or sewed on, the latter method being a little more trouble and infinitely more satisfactory in the long run.

Dental outfits, consisting of tooth brush, dental powder, mouthwash and dental floss, put up in individual packages and all included in a rubber case.

Trays and mats, six, seven or eight inches wide, made of sponge rubber. They are thin, flexible and washable, and can be used on stone or metal washstands.

A combination file, nail cleaner, cuticle pusher and buffer, made of bone, and incased in an imitation leather case, and costing, complete, only 19 cents.

Tablets of rouge just large enough and of the right color for lip painting, made in the form of cloth flower leaves and sold by the four-petal "flower."

Tortoise shell manure sets, with handles all of the real shell, come at $10 a set, or three or four dollars apiece. Mother-of-pearl outfits for $20.

Clothes brushes with velvet backs, shaped into the forms of animals, the illusion being helped out by buttons for the eyes and a few judicious embroidery stitches.

Hair brushes with backs of ivory, the brushes being of the rubber air-gun type, which, it is said, ventilates the hair in brushing and invigorates the scalp.

Hat Trimmings.

Flowers are no more to be seen on the best Paris hats; feathers have entirely taken their place. Black and white ostrich plumes are first in favor, especially in the willow curl.

Paradise cigarettes in the same shades are also popular with the Parisienne, though fortunately most of our really well-dressed women refuse to wear feathers that are obtained at the cost of so much slaughter.

The Revival of Caps.

Now that ornamental caps of different kinds are having such a vogue the old ladies' dress cap, once the distinguishing mark of the aged gentle woman, is being revived. It can be bought made up in fine white lace with decorations of ribbon in any of the more delicate shades preferred.

If This is a Biscuit

What is This

ANSWER

One—the flat, and badly looking one—was baked with poor baking powder; possibly the other—the one possibly the cheap, big can kind. It denotes a lack of evenness in the distribution of same—or both. The other—the large, light, fluffy one—was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder, and denotes the evenness, delicious baking that always results from its use.

Calumet does not contain any of the high price baking powder, but it is very much superior in every way—it is pure, and is more healthful. Here are the reasons:

All baking powders undergo a chemical change in the process of baking. You do not take it into the stomach in the form as it is in the can. For example: When you use Cream of Tartar Baking Powder you get Rochelle Salts in your food, because the Cream of Tartar baking powder is changed into Rochelle Salts. This, as you know, is a drug, and should be used only under doctor's orders.

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is a complete perfect.

That it is absolutely pure and of highest quality is proven by the fact that

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

You can't tell three of 'em apart—or three millions. The taste stays the same—the blend never changes—that's why the sales of the are over "three millions a week." It costs 5c to learn that your nickels used to be cheated. Successfully good for 30 years.

Now made in two shapes. The perfect you know. The Corona is new.
